Primate of All England Succumbs to Apoplexy at Hawarden.

STRICKEN IN MR. GLADSTONE'S PEW

Carried to the Rectory, Where Death Occurred Almost Immediately—Brief Sketch of the Career of the Distinguished Prelate.

London, Oct. 12.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England and metropolitan, the Right Hon. and Most Rev. Edward White Benson, D. D., and privy councillor, died suddenly yesterday while attending divine service in the church at Hawarden. The archbishop was the guest of Mr. Gladstone, through whom he was appointed to the archbishopric of Canterbury, and, in company with the Gladstone family, went to the Hawarden church. After the service had commenced a commotion was noticed in the Gladstone pew, and immediately thereafter church attendants were seen removing the archbishop, who, it was supposed, was suffering from a fit. He was taken to the rectory and medical assistance was hastily summoned. The doctors worked over him in vain and in a few minutes he expired. The physicians state that death was caused by apoplexy.

Appeared in the Best of Health.

The archbishop and his wife arrived at Hawarden castle, Mr. Gladstone's residence, Saturday evening. They had just come from the north of Ireland, where they had been visiting, and intended to make a short stay at Hawarden. The archbishop appeared to be enjoying the best of health. He attended communion at the Hawarden church at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and then returned to the castle where he partook of breakfast with Mr. Gladstone and his family. Later he walked through the park to attend the morning service. The Rev. Stephen Gladstone, the rector of the church, continued the service until he received a message from the rectory that the archbishop was dead. He then closed the service with the prayer for the dead from the burial service. As the congregation were leaving the church the organist played a dead march and a muffled peal was rung on the bell.

Esteemed by All Sects.

The death was announced in many of the Episcopal and other churches in London and the provinces at last night's services, and much regret was expressed everywhere. Archbishop Benson was esteemed by all sects for his moderation and broadmindedness. The death of the archbishop was announced at St. Paul's, London, at the afternoon service. Dean Farrar paid an impressive tribute to the deceased archbishop in Canterbury cathedral. He said among other things, that of Archbishop Benson's more than ninety predecessors none was endowed with more graceful learning, more charming geniality, or holier or truer wisdom.

Sketch of Archbishop Benson's Life.

The Right Hon. and Most Rev. Edward White Benson, D. D., was born near Birmingham, in 1829. He was educated at King Edward's school, Birmingham, and at Trinity college, Cambridge, of which he was successively scholar and fellow, and where he graduated B. A in 1852, as a first-class in classical honors, and senior chancellor's medallist, obtaining also the place of a senior optime in the mathematical tripos. He graduated M. A in 1855, B. D. in 1862 and D. D. in 1867, Hon D. C. L. (Oxford), 1884. He was for some years one of the masters in Rugby school, and he held the head-mastership of Wellington college from its first opening in 1858 down to 1872. For several years he was examining chaplain to the late bishop of Lincoln, by whom he was appointed chancellor and canon residentiary of Lincoln, having been a prebendary of the same cathedral for three years previous. He was select preacher to the university of Cambridge(1864, 1871, 1876, 1879 and 1882), and to the university of Oxford(1875-76),honorable caplain to the queen, 1873, and chaplain in ordinary, 1875-77. In December, 1876, he was nominated by the crown, on the recommendation of the Earl of Beaconsfield, to the newly-restored bishopric of Truro, and was consecrated in St. Paul's cathedral, April 25, 1877. The diocese, which was taken out of the diocese of Exeter, consists of the county of Cornwall, the Isle of Scilly, and five parishes of Devonshire, constituting the old archdeaconry of Cornwall, with the church of St. Mary, Truro, as a cathedral. During his occupation of the see he began the building of a new cathedral at Truro, of which the outward shell has cost over $100,000, much of that sum having been gathered through the energy of the bishop. In December, 1882, Dr. Benson was appointed by the crown, on Mr. Gladstone's recommendation, to the archbishopric of Canterbury, in succession to Dr. Tait. He has published several religious works. The annual value of the see of Canterbury is $75,000, and the archbishop is the patron of 195 livings. Archbishop Benson was a member of the Athenaeum and Grillions clubs. In addition to his archepiscopal residence at Lambeth palace, he had a seat at Addington park. Croyden, Surrey.

WHEAT, RYE, BARLEY AND OATS

Large Decrease in the World's Product of Four Principal Cereals.

Washington, Oct. 12.—United States Consul General Karel, at St. Petersburg, has supplied the state department with exhaustive statistics of the world's wheat harvest of 1896. His figures, he explains, are in cases preliminary and approximate, only based in instances on last year's returns. They show that in general the harvest of 1896 decreased 185,485,543 bushels as compared with the harvest of 1895. The harvest in the United States, Canada, Argentine, Uruguay, Chili, Australia and the East Indies show a decrease of 165,322,959 bushels. Of the European production countries, Russia only shows a large decrease of 56,575,467 bushels. The countries of consumption harvested 37,205,123 bushels more than last year; only Spain and Portugal among them had a bad crop. France harvested nearly as much as last year, while an increase is observed only in Italy and Great Britain. The decrease is attributed to reduction in the wheat acreage, owing to the low price of the last three years. The rye harvest shows a still greater decrease proportionately, it being estimated at 154,765,714 bushels. A decrease in oats and barley is also noticeable but not to so great an extent. The exports of cereals from Russia during the first eight months of 1896 show a big decrease compared with the preceding year, being 192,440,651 bushels, as against 241,254 578 bushels.

THE WORLD'S SUGAR CROP.

Estimated at 7,069,765 Tons, 138,605 Tons Less Than in 1895.

Washington, Oct. 12.—A report received at the department of state from consul Eugene Germain, stationed at Zurich, gives the estimates of the world's sugar crop for the season 1895-96, as calculated by the Deutsche Zuckerindustrie, a paper devoted to sugar interests. The estimate places the crop at 7,069,756 tons, against 8,205,361 tons for the previous season. In this estimate the beet sugar-producing countries, excluding the United States, participated to the amount of 4,236,100 tons, against 4,688,500 in 1894-95. The visible world's supply, excluding the new crops, but including cargoes afloat, is estimated to be 1,331,306 tons, as against 1,500,413 tons last year this time.

THE PHILIPPINE REVOLT.

One-Sixteenth of the Entire Population Combine Against Spanish Rule.

Madrid, Oct. 12.—The Imparcial has received advices from Manila showing that the situation in the Philippine islands is serious. He adds that the rebels have formed lodges in every place of any importance, and that the membership of these organizations is 500,000, which is about one-sixteenth of the entire population of the islands, men, women and children. Murder and outrage are everywhere rife. There is much opposition, even among the loyal element, to Capt.-Gen. Blanco, and threats have been made to expel him, and substitute in his stead the Archbishop of Manila.

NEW PROCESS NICKEL ARMOR.

Test Made with Plates Treated with a Secret Process Not Satisfactory.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The naval ordnance bureau Saturday began an experimental test with two nickel steel armor-plates made by the Carnegie company. The plates are treated by a new and secret process, the proportions of nickel and steel differing from those of any plates heretofore made. The test was made with 8 and 12-inch guns at a high velocity, averaging over 1,900 feet per second. The plates were penetrated and cracked in places and did not entirely meet the high expectations entertained, but further experiments will be made.

German Emigration.

Hamburg, Oct. 12.—The officials who have been charged with the duty of considering the emigration question are agreed upon the principle of the establishment of a special office, forming a sort of board of emigration. The matter of emigration is now normally under the supervision of the home office, which lacks the means of dealing with the question adequately. One of the functions of the new board will be to direct German emigration into proper channels. In plain language, this will be to divert emigration from America and Australia to the German-American colonies.

The Charleston has been continually on the go since she was commissioned, Dec. 26, 1889. # DEFENDS THE SULTAN

Gen. Grumbkoff Says "Abdul Hamid Is a Wise Man."

NEEDS MONEY TO CARRY OUT REFORMS

"If He Could Follow His Own Desires Turkey Would Be a Happy Country, but He Is Fettered by Empty Public Coffers"—Armenian Question.

(Copyright, 1896, by the United Associated Presses.)

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The lull in the excitement over affairs in the East continues, the newspapers having decided to await the developments which are expected to follow the departure of the czar from France before resuming their campaign of agitation. It is understood that the czar will shortly give an audience to Gen. Grumbkoff, the German officer in the Ottoman service, who is the bearer of an autograph letter from the sultan to the kaiser. Gen. Grumbkoff is accompanied by the sultan's ambassador, Ghalib Bey, who will also be received by the kaiser. The mission of Gen. Grumbkoff, according to the semi-official Berlin Post, is one of great political importance. In the meantime an intereiew with Gen. Grumbkoff appears in a Berlin paper, in which the Turkish commissioner vigorously defends the action of the sultan and the leading Turkish officials, contending that no man occupying the Turkish throne would fulfill the demands of the powers unconditionally. The sultan of Turkey, he maintains, must always take into consideration the probable effect of the fulfilment of such demands upon the Mohammedan populace, otherwise there would be great danger of an outbreak of Moslem fanaticism leading to the total annihilation of the Christians within the empire. "Abdul Hamid," the general says, "is a wise man, and in all his actions he invariably looks carefully forward to the probable or possible results. If the sultan could follow his own desires Turkey would be a happy country, but his most excellent aspirations are fettered by empty public coffers. The true reform which is needed in Turkey is financial assistance: perhaps administered under a control similar to the administration of Egypt, but as there is no money there can be no reform."

The Armenian Question.

The pro-Armenian movement in Germany is making little progress. Although the official wet blanket which has been cast over the movement wherever it has existed has not had the effect to quench the flame of agitation altogether, the movement itself has not been seized with any degree of ardor by the public. Doctor Lepsius, the leader of the Armenian agitation, has been summoned to the foreign office and requested to desist from further activity in the matter, he being informed, it is understood, that as the movement was a strongly political, and in no respect a philanthropic, one the government could not countenance it. The Hamburg Nachrichten, the personal organ of Prince Bismarck, in its discussion of the Armenian question, argues that the Armenians are rebels while Germany and Turkey have the most friendly relations. Therefore the German aiders and abettors of the Armenians are liable to punishment under the German criminal code.

Foreign Diplomats Snubbed.

The circumstance of the ignoring of the entire diplomatic corps in the matter of extending invitations to the various functions upon the occasion of the czar's visit to Paris, which caused feelings of intense indignation among the diplomats themselves, is being discussed in official quarters here. At the outset of the entertainment of the czar the diplomatic body only received invitations to the gala opera performance and were not asked to be present on any other of the public ceremonies. After all, or nearly all, of those functions were over the diplomats received invitations to attend the grand military review at Chalons and the attaches of the various embassies and legations only obtained these in consequence of the remonstrance made by Count von Munster, the German ambassador, to the foreign office. It is possible that the officials of the foreign office did not relish the quarter from which the demand for invitations to attend the great military spectacle of the review of the French troops came, for they promptly disclaimed any responsibility for the omission to send invitations and referred the ambassador to the Elysee palace, from which quarter the invitations eventually emanated.

To Return the Czar's Visit.

According to a special dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from St. Petersburg President Faure will not pay a visit to the Russian capital as has been suggested, but Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria will return the czar's visit to Vienna and the emperor and empress of Germany may also visit at St. Petersburg concurrently with the Austrian kaiser.

BERLIN'S FAMOUS ZOO.

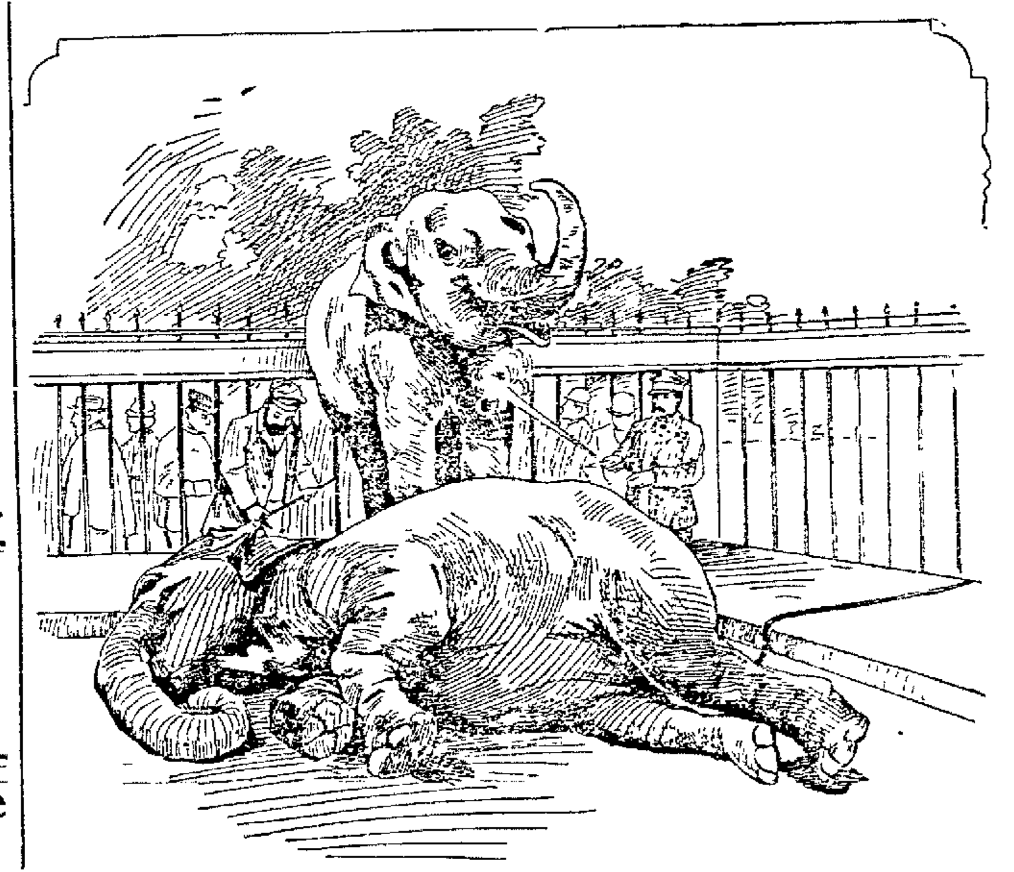
The Largest Collection of Its Kind in the World.

From Modest Beginnings in 1884 It Has Assumed Gigantic Proportions—Thousands of Animals Sheltered in Handsome Structures.

[Special Berlin Letter.]

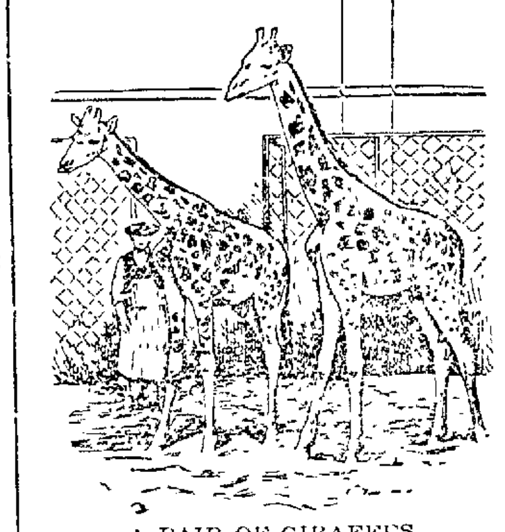
Among the chief attractions of the German capital is the Zoological garden, and on fine summer days as well as on holidays throughout the year the visitors often number 30,000 to 50,000. Low admission days are provided for by the management, with the price down to 25 pfennig (six cents), so that everybody is sure to view this institution of popular amusement and instruction once in awhile. And the Zoological garden is well deserving of its popularity. It now contains (barring amphibious and aquatic animal life, in which the aquarium, a purely private institution in Unter den Linden, is exhaustive) the most comprehensive and best-housed collection of living beasts and birds to be found anywhere in the world.

It may, for instance, surprise many readers, yet it is an absolute fact, that the entire fauna of the United States may nowhere be seen in such perfect condition and so completely as within the boundaries of the garden. The collection in New York is a mere makeshift in comparison to this one—for the buffalo of the far west, the seal of Alaska and California, the Canadian elk, the Virginia deer and fox, the turtle of the Floridian seashore, the wild ducks and swans and geese of east and west, and even the dread grizzly are here, and all of them magnificent representatives of their kinds. I took a young American traveler there last Sunday, and he was fairly amazed—he had had no idea until then that his country produced so many and such interesting beasts. At this writing there is another big collection on the way from the southern states, as well as another collection from the far Norse countries, and yet another from eastern Africa. And it all is being paid for with the dimes and nickels of the never-ending hosts of visitors.



MORNING TOILET OF THE ELEPHANTS.

As New York had her late-lamented Mr. Crowley, so Berlin has her favorite monkeys as well—Herr Julius and family, consisting of Lotte, his wife, and Peterkin, his hopeful. They are Japs, of the sturdy and clumsy-looking, but intensely comical and highly-intelligent maki breed. They have a big, high iron-grated house all to themselves, and have become so much at home in Berlin that they are kept, winter and summer, in the open air, with a little Japanese temple for shelter against rough winds or rain and snow. Peterkin, the little fellow, is the great boy, though, knowing scores of regular visitors by sight, and performing many odd tricks on command. In the so-called old monkey house are the hardier ones, the big favorites and other well-seasoned monkeys, and they are the never-ceasing source of delight of everybody, for their quarrels and fights, their strange grimaces and cunning performances are without number, and right with them as their playfellows and boon companions are two strange-looking beasts from Madagascar, the "cat maki," half monkey, half badger, but very nimble and determined fighters when driven to a corner. In another edifice, an architecturally fine one, and fitted up with glass cupola, tropical plants of every kind, and heated by steam, are the tender, delicate monkeys of hot climes, including a family of three orang-outangs from Borneo, and the hooded chimpanzee. Despite all precautions taken, however, the death-rate among these exotic simians is high, and their ranks have to be replenished continuously.



A PAIR OF GIRAFFES.

The antelope house is another point of general interest. It is also a large, solid building of considerable architectural beauty, with a huge glass dome in the center, flower beds, small aquariums, palm trees and gigantic ferns rearing their pretty foliage under the concentrated rays of the sun, and with the spacious cages of 40 different species of antelope running around the outer walk. Everything in this line is there, from the gigantic eauna antelope of South Africa, nine feet long and six feet high to the shoulders, to the North African gazelle, barely 30 inches high and with a body not bigger than that of a rabbit, but as graceful and dainty as possible. The two center cages are reserved for the giraffe pair, both in perfect condition and slightly over 18 feet high. The male, when excited, becomes ugly at times, and after he had come near killing one of the attendants by hitting him hard with its enormous hoof, another attendant had to be found for him, with whom the tall fellow, ordinarily peaceable enough, has concluded a treaty of friendship.

Largest and most solid of all the 47 structures devoted to the housing of the animals is the elephant house, having the shape of an Indian pagoda and resplendent in its mosaique, many-hued designs on towers and walls. There are three elephants inside, besides a number of other huge animals accustomed to a mild temperature. One of these elephants is the present of the prince of Wales, and is the tallest in Europe, weighing 8,240 pounds, while his mate weighs "only" 5,700. The young giant, however, being but 25 years old, is still growing. His name is Sultan, and he is, since his enormous tusks have been sawed off, well behaved enough, but still liable to gusts of passion, and his vindictiveness never wears out. During the first year of his captivity the little boy of the head keeper in this building, teased the brute as boys will with a piece of sugar. Sultan never forgave that, and one Sunday morning, as the boy got too near the beast, the elephant seized him with his trunk and tried to crush the little fellow against the heavy iron bars of his cage. The father, fortunately, came to the rescue in the nick of time and attacked the beast with a pitchfork, when the elephant let go of the boy and went for the man, who could save himself only by precipitate flight. A smaller elephant, just imported from East Africa, Sultan killed with his huge tusks on the paddock just outside the cage, and then trampled the dead body to a jelly—whereupon he lost his tusks and became comparatively harmless. Horrible in shape and looks, and with a yawning mouth that looks endless like the grave, the two enormous rhinoceroses, neighbors of the elephants, are among the most innocent and harmless of animals here. The female, Lena, is of an intensely affectionate nature, and it is one of the great curiosities of the garden to see her make love to the grim old keeper, a veteran of three wars, with the iron cross. Her ponderous affection is, however, reciprocated by the latter—a widower—who assured me, quite seriously, that Lena reminded him greatly of his departed spouse. As I have not seen the photograph of the latter I cannot vouch for the correctness and appropriateness of the comparison.

The kangaroo house, the llama and the ostrich inclosures are well worth visits, too, but of unusual interest are the bear pits, the parks set apart for the buffaloes, zebus, camels and yaks, and also the big rock formations which are the domain of the chamois, springbock, mountain sheep and mouflon. Among the bears there are several magnificent American specimens, and a pair of huge Norwegian bears brought home by the emperor on his yacht, the Hohenzollern, from one of his Northland summer excursions, and presented to the management. The little Thibetan collar bear, a good-natured, innocent sort of beast, is tame enough to eat from the hand of a small child, and his mode of begging for appetizing morsels never fails to delight the crowd. Another imperial present is from the late Czar Alexander III., a pair of those immense European bisons, now only existing in the huge imperial domain of Bialytok. Large German importers from Japan, China, the orient and Africa also add continually to the immense stock of living animals whose daily provisions equal those needed for a small city. One such firm, Rex & Company, in Berlin, have made over 100 presents of the kind alone.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

POPULAR IN ARKANSAS.

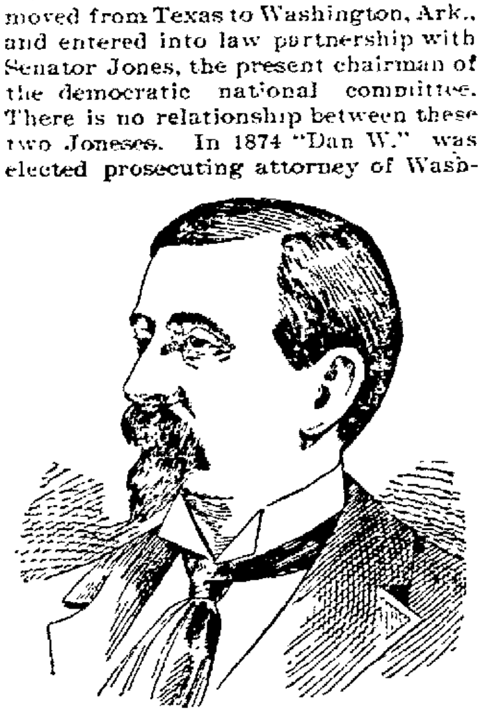
Governor-Elect Jones Is Known to Everybody as "Dan W."

Governor-elect Jones is known throughout Arkansas as "Dan W." The Joneses are thick in Arkansas, and the more prominent of them wear nicknames so as to distinguish them from each other. "Dan W." was born in a little hamlet in Texas 25 years ago. He was the only son of a doctor, who mapped out a medical career for him. "Dan W." preferred the law, and tackled it early. He was also something of a fighter, and he distinguished himself in the confederate ranks during the war. When peace was proclaimed he returned to his law books. In 1872 he moved from Texas to Washington, Ark., and entered into law partnership with Senator Jones, the present chairman of the democratic national committee. There is no relationship between these two Joneses. In 1874 "Dan W." was elected prosecuting attorney of Washington county, and later attorney general of the state of Arkansas. After holding this office two years he moved to Little Rock, resumed his private law practice, and formed the partnership of "Dan W." Jones and McKay, which still exists. He has the name of being one of the shrewdest poilticians in the south. When fighting for the nomination for governor he declared he would bolt from the democratic party if the Chicago convention should declare for a gold standard. On this issue he won the nomination. The governor-elect has two daughters and three sons, and Mrs. "Dan W." is living.



GOV. DANIEL W. JONES, ARKANSAS.

The Biggest Medical Fee.

One of the greatest prizes that ever fell to the lot of a medical man was that awarded to Dr. Dimsdale, for many years a Hertford (England) physician. That gentleman went to Russia in the year 1768, and inoculated Empress Catherine and her son. For this service he received a fee of $50,000, and was also awarded a pension for life at $2,500 per annum, and the rank of baron of the empire.

Medical Item.

Doctor—To the best of my judgment you are suffering from gastritis.

Patient—I knew it. I got it in the cellar fooling with the gas meter.—Texas Sifter.

A Great Drawback.

Mrs. Fangle—I can't bear to send a telegram!

Mrs. Gumso—Why?

Mrs. Fangle—Because you can't add postscript.—Bay City Chat.

No Difference.

"Why, old man, I didn't know that she finally refused you."

"It amounted to the same thing. She said she was willing to wait until I could support her."—N. Y. Truth.

A Prudent Youth.

Giles—Does that girl of yours know that you are a poet?

Tubbs—Yes, but I'm trying to keep it from her father.—Up-to-Date.

He Was Engaged.

"Well, boy, what do you want?"

"I wanter be employed as a freak."

"What's queer about you?"

"I can't whistle."—Bay City Chat.

Well Directed.

"Here, my boy, how can I get to the ferry landing?"

"Walk."—Detroit Free Press.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at McMonagle & Rogers' Drug Store.

To Offer a Reward of 100 Dollars

for a case of catarrh that cannot be cured, amounts to nothing except to sell an article. Do you know of any such reward being paid? Ely Bros. do not promise rewards in order to sell their well-known "Cream Balm." They offer the most effective medicants, prepared in convenient form to use, which is absolutely free from mercurials or other harmful drugs.

Speed and safety are the watchwords of the age. One Minute Cough Cure acts speedily, safely and never fails. Asthma, bronchitis, coughs and colds are cured by it. W. D. Olney.

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely relieves the difficulty: W. D. Olney.

NEVER DESPAIR.

Discouragement Has Lost Many a Life—Fight it Out to the Bitter End—Try Every Possible Means—A Middletown Romance.

Everybody makes mistakes and it is no proof that a man is going to die because his physician tells him so. Often a case pronounced incurable by the faculty readily yields to the proper remedy. Its simply a matter of getting the right thing and using it. Mr. A. P. Stoll, one of our citizens living at No. 15 Genung street, an engineer by occupation, found himself in a serious condition recently, suffering severely from kidney complaint. If he had not gone to J. E. Mills' drug store for a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, he would undoubtedly be suffering yet for he says: "It has cost me over $25 per year for medicine alone. I have tried most everything and was informed by my physician that I could not be cured. For two and one-half years I suffered terribly. My back was the worst but in time it affected the head and my eyesight. I was almost convinced that what my doctor said was true and was so discouraged at the result of all my efforts that when I commenced to take Doan's Kidney Pills I had not the least confidence in them. Well they did me a wonderful amount of good. Assistance to any one in my condition is very welcome. I can heartily endorse Doan's Kidney Pills."

Kidney troubles are the bane of human existence, at their door can be traced more than half of the ills mankind is heir to. The insidious, underhand way kidney troubles often work before it shows itself, plainly shows what a hold it often gets on its victim.

When you get a backache from any cause or source, and it does not cease naturally in a day or two as general injuries do in a healthy body, you may decide at once, it is a kidney trouble, and attack it from the proper standpoint. And that is just the stage to take it in, too, for an immediate and radical cure.

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Sent by mail on receipt of price. For sale by all dealers.

Humbert's Brother To Visit Us.

New York, Oct. 12.—Luigi, duca degli Abruzzi, the third son of the late Amadeus, Duke of Aosta, and brother of King Humbert of Italy, is expected here within the next two weeks, and arrangements have been made to give a dinner in his honor by the united Italian societies of this city. The duke is a lieutenant in the Italian navy, and the vessel to which he is attached is coming here from South American ports. She is expected about Oct. 24. Baron Fava, the Italian minister to the United States, is to come here to meet the prince, and the Italian societies will give a dinner in honor of the prince in the concert hall of Madison Square Garden on the evening of Oct. 31.

The Cruelty of Warfare.

"I hate to do such a thing," said the editress of a campaign newspaper in a woman's suffrage community. "But politics is politics."

"What's the matter?" asked her husband, who was waiting to carry some copy into the composing room.

"I've written an article that will lose the rival candidates 2,000 votes, at the lowest calculation."

"Have you discovered something damaging in her record?"

"Yes, I can show beyond a doubt that she is wearing a last year's bonnet, and that her clothes don't fit her, because she makes them herself."—Washington Star.

Lack a Requisite.

Mose Johnson (at the club)—I say, fellahs, let's get up a football 'leven. We's all got big feet an' could put up a powerful strong team.

Sporty Jackson (derisively)—Talk a reef, dar; talk a reef. How's we gwine to grow long hair?—Leslie's Weekly.

Wiser Views.

"Uncle George, when does a woman come to years of discretion?"

"When, on making up a luncheon, she leaves out pickles and puts in hard-boiled eggs."—Chicago Record.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE LEATHERJACKET.

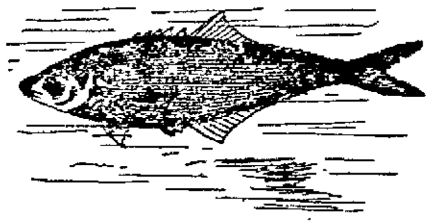
Handsome Fish That Is Not Often Found in Northern Waters.

The leatherjacket or skipjack, as it is sometimes called, is a fish common in the Gulf of Mexico and the waters of the West Indies, and as far south as Brazil. On the Pacific coast it is found along Mexico and Central America. On the Atlantic coast the leatherjacket is found in summer as far north as Cape Cod; but it is not common in these waters. The specimen here pictured was taken recently in Gravesend bay and brought to the New York aquarium. The leatherjacket is a very active swimmer and not adapted to confinement; this one did not long survive its capture.

The leatherjacket is not a good fish to eat, as its flesh is rather hard and dry, but it is a handsome fish to look at. The specimen here shown was about ten inches in length. Its skin had somewhat the appearance of grain leather, caused by the form and arrangement of the scales, which were small, extremely narrow, and deeply embedded in the skin, and irregularly placed, making very fine, irregular, lateral wrinkles all over the leatherjacket's body.

The body of the leatherjacket is very thin, and spindle-shaped. It has a slender tail, and a small, pointed snout. A short spiny fin on the back is followed by a longer dorsal fin, which is broken up into many finlets. The anal fin also is long and partly composed of finlets behind. There are two very strong sharp spines in front of it. The leatherjacket has a small head and large eyes and a moderately large mouth. It is of a purplish gray on the upper part of its body, but the lower and greater part of its body is silvery. The breast fins and the caudal fins are tinged with yellow. The leatherjacket is formed for speed and it is a quick swimmer. Its nearest relations among well-known fishes are the pompano, the moonfishes, the threadfish, the yellow mackerel, and the amberfishes.



THE LEATHERJACKET.

Marie Corelli Scores Bloomers.

Marie Corelli, the author, is falling foul of the press for saying she has been entertaining a party of grouse-killers in Scotland. She writes: "I do not shoot, but would like to do so now, not at grouse, but at the liars. A few liars less in the world would give us all more breathing room and a sweeter atmosphere. I do not ride a bike, have not invented a bike costume, and entirely abhor bike riding for women. Men look sufficiently hideous and undignified on a bike, and women are worse than hideous: they are immodest. The poet's ideal of exquisite womanhood is utterly destroyed by the sight of these perspiring, redfaced objects working their legs treadmill fashion in the mere blatant feminine vulgarities."

Marks—But I don't see anything amusing about that.

Parks—Don't? Oh, yes, there is. You see, it's the first time th's kid has napped since he was born, two months ago.—Town Topics.

Equal to the Occasion.

"Waiter," sharply spoke the guest, "I ordered Roquefort and you have brought me Swiss. You ought to know that's not just the cheese."

"Yes, sir," replied the imperturbable waiter, making the desired change and slapping down a larger check, "that alters the kese, sir."—Chicago Tribune.

Living in Hope.

"I haven't had a ride in a carriage I don't know when," complained Mrs. Jaysmith.

"Never mind," replied her husband; "just have patience. Some of the neighbors will have a funeral one of these days."—Bay City Chat.

Johnnie Found Out.

"Little Johnnie opened his drum yesterday to find out where the noise came from."

"Did he find out?"

"Yes; when his father came home the noise came from Little Johnnie."—Pick-Me-Up.

Practically Idle.

Mrs. Wigbald—No, my husband hasn't done much for 25 years.

Mrs. Oldbrain—Has he been an invalid all that time?

Mrs. Wigbald—No, he's been a government employe.—Washington Times.

One Point That Might Decide.

"I have received proposals from two men, both equally wealthy and both protesting unbounded love for me, and I do not know which one to accept."

"Has neither of them a cough?"—N. Y. Truth.

Out of Balance.

"It always depresses me dreadfully to meet a bicycle scorcher."

"Why so?"

"I hate to see a man's legs work so much better than his brains."—Chicago Record.

"ALL THE MAGAZINES IN ONE"

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as its name implies, gives in readable form the best that appears in the other great magazines all over the world, generally on the same date that they are published. With the recent extraordinary increase of worthy periodicals, these careful reviews, summaries, and quotations, giving the gist of periodical literature, are alone worth the subscription price.

● Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.

The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness; it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

The National Democrats of Delaware county held a "mass convention" in Delhi, Thursday, to nominate a county ticket. Two delegates constituted the "mass convention" and they went through the form of endorsing the regular Democratic ticket with the exception of the candidate for Member of Assembly. For that office they made an independent nomination.

The ticket nominated by the Democrats of this city is steadily growing in favor with voters. They appreciate the integrity and ability of the candidates and their fitness for the offices for which they have been named. They understand, too, that the only hope for a change in city affairs and a return to more economical and more efficient methods of administration is in the election of the candidates named at the Democratic convention. Voters are not making the mistake of allowing the heat and turmoil of the national campaign to blind them to the importance of making close scrutiny of candidates for local offices for they realize as never before how directly their interests are dependent upon good local government.

INJURED BY FALLING BRICK.

A Boy Struck on the Head by a Brick Blown from a Chimney.

Eddie the nine-year-old son of David Abbot of No 36 Lake avenue while playing in the yard this morning, was struck upon the head by one of several bricks, which were blown from the top of the chimney and sustained a bad scalp wound.

The corner of the brick struck him at the top of the forehead and cut a deep gash several inches long, which required four stitches to close. It was evidently a glancing blow and this probably saved the boy's life.

A Woman Brings Her Recreant Spouse Before Recorder Bradner and Wants a Divorce.

A woman, evidently not versed in the law, caused the arrest of her husband, Saturday night, believing that by so doing she could secure a divorce from him.

TO BE MARRIED TO-DAY.

F. A. R. Pronk Gone to Binghamton to Claim a Bride.

F. A. R. Pronk, of the firm of Pronk & Foster, and President of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Co., left town, yesterday, it is believed, on a mission that may affect his whole future life. He gave out but little information regarding his intended movements, but what he did say to one or two very intimate friends gave them to understand that he was about to commit matrimony.

It is learned that the young lady whom he has chosen for a helpmeet is Miss Mary Clark, who formerly resided with her mother on Mulberry street and a few months ago removed to Deposit.

Mr. Pronk and Miss Clark were to be married at Binghamton, to-day, and are expected home on Friday.

Mr. Pronk's friends among Excelsior Hook and Ladder Co., of Binghamton, were given the tip by wire, this morning, and will probably make things interesting for him and his bride while they remain in the Parlor City.

When the two days' meeting of the Orange County Horse Show closed, at Goshen, late Saturday afternoon, there was still a large crowd in attendance, for so intensely interested had the people become in the varied programme prepared for Tuxedo Day, that the chilly air did not deter them from remaining to witness the final exhibition.

The following attractions were presented after the ARGUS's report closed, on Saturday afternoon:

Disbrow brothers' triplet raced a mile against time in 2:20.

The following additional exhibitions of show classes were made:

The performance of the former was most excellent, but the latter was disqualified through repeated refusals, and the first prize of $55 was awarded to Lady Bird.

During the afternoon Murray drove Glenmere Boy one mile, in an attempt to beat 2.15, for a purse of $200. He made the heat in 2:16¼, and the failure was attributed to a broken boot.

Erie Employes Asked to Be Courteous.

President E. B. Thomas of the Erie Railroad Company has just caused a circular to be issued to every employe of the company thanking them for the efficient service rendered in the past and asking them to always treat the patrons of the road politely and courteously, as it redounds to the success and popularity of the system.

There may be need for this injunction somewhere on the Erie lines, but certainly not in Middletown.

Leeds, the Hypnotist.

The Irontown, O., Item says of Prof. Leeds, the hypnotist, who will be at the Casino, all this week:

He had his subjects fighting rats and making political speeches, and turned one or two of them into cats and made them indulge in the usual feline misunderstandings. The performance closed with a game of base ball, which broke up in an assault on the umpire, and this wild tussle nearly "brought down the house" literally as well as figuratively. It was a great show.

A Watch That Stands Hard Usage.

A Sidney Centre man while working on a church tower dropped his watch, which fell fifty feet, striking on a stick of timber. The case was knocked open and the works fell out, but when picked up the watch was still ticking and it does not seem to have been injured in any way. Even the crystal was not broken.

Striking Back at His Wife's Accusers.

Leon Lord, of Walton, whose wife was recently arrested and sent to jail for selling liquor, has begun proceedings against Officer Soper and Pennett Rosa, the principal witness, charging them with conspiracy. Justice Patterson is also implicated as an accomplice.

THE UNIVERSALISTS' NEW PASTOR

Rev. J. N. Emory's First Sermon to His Middletown Charge.

Rev. J. N. Emery preached his first sermon as pastor of the Universalist Society, in the Assembly Rooms, yesterday morning. His text was Matthew v:17, "I am not come to destroy but to fulfill." The new pastor said, in part:

"While Jesus differed with the prevailing interpretations of and additions to the law and the prophets, yet He fulfilled the essence and spirit of the Mosaic religion in a most wonderful, yet simple way. The Universalist Church comes to destroy not one essential of christianity, but to fulfill the broad, simple, helpful religion of Jesus Christ. It comes to this community, and its pastor comes, to work with all other churches and pastors in saving men to the truth and to the divine life of the Master. It will be the aim to make all ministrations a blessing and a help to the people of Middletown."

The preacher then spoke many earnest words to his people as to the methods and the spirit of their continued work together.

In the evening a large congregation listened to an exposition of the Universalist faith, the spirit and substance of which, the preacher said, would be the basis of the pulpit's ministrations.

FIGHT WITH A WOUNDED BUCK

After Being Shot Several Times a Deer Makes an Attempt to Avenge the Death of Its Mate.

George Engleman, of Narrowsburgh, had a fight with a wounded buck, Friday. In company with two New York gentlemen he was hunting deer. They had shot a doe and were carrying it out of the woods on a pole when a large buck rushed from the underbrush and charged the party. Mr. Engleman fired and the animal fell, but again it sprang to its feet and charged.

Then the entire party discharged their guns into the deer's body and it fell over apparently dead. Mr. Engleman stepped up to cut the animal's throat when it again got up and a desperate fight ensued between it and Mr. Engleman.

The deer was growing weak from loss of blood and was finally forced to give up, but not until it had cut the hunter's clothing into shreds with its sharp hoofs.

AT THE CAMPBELL TRACK.

Horse Trot and Bicycle Parade to Be Given, Saturday.

At a meeting of members of the Middletown Horse and Driving Park Association, held Saturday night, it was decided to give a horse race and bicycle parade at the Campbell track, Saturday afternoon.

There will be two races, the 2:20 and 2:35 classes, and there are sufficient entries to insure interesting contests.

There will be a meeting of wheelmen at the Russell House, this evening, to arrange for a bicycle parade, which will be a very interesting feature.

Funeral of Mrs. Noble.

Brief funeral services were held, Friday evening, at the late home of Cornelia A. Noble, 257 North street, this city. Rev. F. A. Heath read appropriate scripture passages, from which he drew lessons of comfort and sympathy for the sorrowing husband and friends.

During the services Mrs. C. H. Sweezy rendered two appropriate selections very beautifully.

Early Saturday morning the funeral party, consisting of William A. Noble and Mr. and Mrs. George W. West, took a train on the O. and W. for Schenectady, where services were held Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Heels Crushed While Stealing a Ride.

A man named Edward Murphy, who was stealing a ride on an Erie freight train, Friday afternoon, had both heels badly crushed between the bumpers on the Delaware division. He was discovered by a brakeman, who ordered him to get off the train. The man replied: "I can't get off: my heels are smashed."

AT THE COUNTY SEAT.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Meeting of the Athletic Association—Close of the Mission at St. John's—Fell from the Pusher Engine—Tuxedo Day Dance—Exchange of Pulpits.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—A meeting of the Goshen Social and Athletic Association will be held at 8:30 o'clock, this evening. Important business is to be transacted at the meeting. A full attendance of members is requested.

—Mrs. G. B. Bertholf is seriously ill at her residence on Greenwich street, this village.

—The mission at St. John's Church was concluded, last evening, and the priests under whose charge the mission was conducted have departed for new fields of labor.

—Jerome Wilson, fireman on the pusher engine, fell from the tender while the engine was pushing a train over the grade east of Goshen, yesterday. He was knocked senseless, but recovered sufficiently in a short time to resume his work.

—The dance at Music Hall Saturday evening was attended by about fifty couples. Guests were present from New York, Jersey City, Tuxedo, Middletown, Port Jervis, Chester and numerous places. Dancing was commenced at 8 o'clock and continued without intermission until shortly before midnight. A buffet lunch was served on the stage. The music which was furnished by Berg's orchestra of seven pieces and consisted largely of Sousa's latest dance compositions was the best heard at Goshen in a long time. A dance commencing at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening is something rather unusual, but that it has struck a popular chord was evidenced by the attendance and undoubtedly Saturday evening dances will be the proper thing during the coming season.

—Rev. R. B. Clark exchanged with the Rev. Mr. Thomas, of Monroe, yesterday morning.

Signs of a Hard Winter.

From the Ithaca Gazette.

A West Hill farmer prophesies that the approaching winter will be long and cold. He declares that the fur on the rabbits and minks is thicker than usual, that corn husks are double, that the nut crop is immense and that the squirrels began very early to lay in their stores of acorns—infallible signs of cold weather, so this seer declares.

DISMAL SWAMP CANAL.

Enterprise Long Since Begun to Be Completed Soon.

A Great Work Which Will Prove of Vast Commercial Interest and Reduce the Dangers of Navigation Materially.

[Special Norfolk (Va.) Letter.]

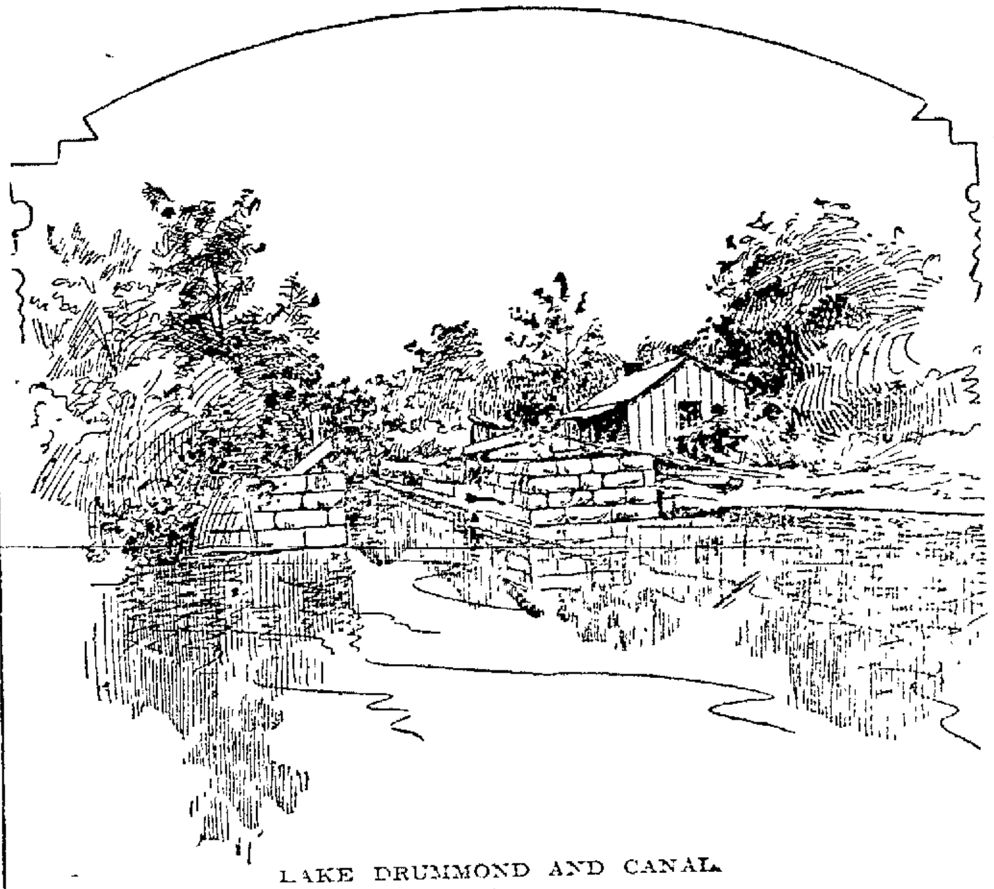
The Lake Drummond Canal company has recently resumed work on the long-since abandoned "Dismal Swamp Canal," which, when completed, will open communication from Norfolk and the ocean to Pomlico Sound. Vessels bound hence for eastern ports will thus avoid that graveyard for ships, Cape Hatteras, off the North Carolina coast. A number of tugs and dredges and about 100 men have just been put to work. The canal is 22 miles in length, and was three or four feet in depth when abandoned, and filled with mud and reeds. Fortunes have been sunk there, and the general government also sank $200,000 in it.

The present company proposes to deepen and widen the canal the entire length, making it 60 feet in width by ten feet in depth, thus accommodating a much larger class of vessels, thereby increasing the trade in the pine, cypress and juniper lumber, of which there seems to be an inexhaustible supply in the swamp. The canal not being large enough, was perhaps the cause of the failure of the several companies previously engaged in the enterprise. A fixed toll will be charged on all vessels navigating the canal. It is estimated that the work will cost about $1,000,000, and that it will be finished within one year.

Congressional aid will not be asked, though government vessels will use the canal.

Since the canal was partly opened, three-quarters of a century ago, companies have been cutting timber from the swamp, which is dotted with lumber camps and the rotten timbers where other camps existed. Many of the companies did not go through the formality of purchasing the land from the government; yet congress continued to make appropriations for the canal.

The present company is working under the original charter granted by North Carolina and Virginia in 1787, of which George Washington was a promoter and shareholder. Patrick Henry was also a shareholder. The main object of the original company was to drain the dismal swamp, and also lower the waters of Lake Drummond, and thus reclaim the valuable lands of the swamp, which are said to be fertile and highly productive.



LAKE DRUMMOND AND CANAL.

The engineer states that a careful estimate has been made of the volume of water of the streams that empty into and flow from Lake Drummond, together with the probable rainfall, which is nearly 100 inches per year, and he is of the opinion that the canal will not perceptibly lower the lake. It has an average depth of about 12 feet, is 20 miles in length, with a width of from five to seven miles. Considering the depth and width of the canal, he is of the opinion that the draining of the swamp is impossible—and ever has been.

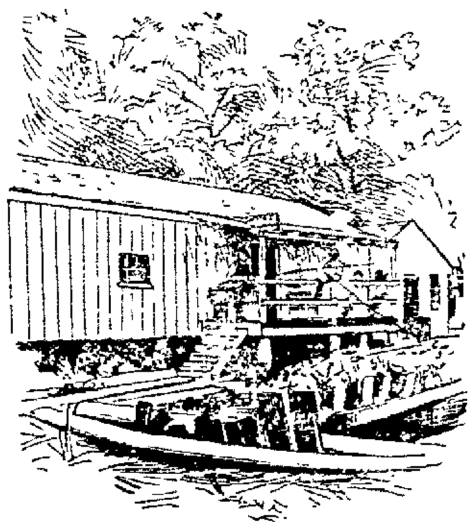
The Dismal swamp, celebrated in song and story, is 40 miles long by 20 miles in width, and is a dense forest of gum, cypress, pine and juniper trees, almost rendered impenetrable by labyrinths of tangled vines and brush. Pine and juniper lumber last for centuries.

The dividing line of Virginia and North Carolina passes through the swamp, hence the necessity of a joint charter. Col. William Byrd, of Westover, made the survey through the swamp in 1772, and it is believed that he is the first white man who invaded the wilderness of wild beasts, reptiles and Indians. The peninsula Indians come here for game, and when they were driven from their villages by the colonists they here sought a refuge among the wild beasts. In this vast quagmire of mud and peat there are hard spots or "floating islands" on which the Indians camped, and amidst these jungles they were safe from the pale face at least. Later, runaway negroes and refugees from justice found refuge on these spots, as broken pottery, iron vessels, canoes, small boats and rotted huts will attest.

Lake Drummond, which is in about the center of the swamp, takes its name from a Scotchman of that name who was a governor of North Carolina. The celebrated bard, Thomas Moore, who visited Norfolk in 1806, made notable the lake with his beautiful poem, "The Lake of the Dismal Swamp," and as one looks out upon the dark waters of the lake, the shadows of the trees reflected upon its bosom, with the solemn stillness of night pervading the scene, he can almost see the lady of the lake in her white robe as "she paddles her white canoe."

It is a picturesque body of water, with even banks, as if the lake had been carefully scooped out by the hand of nature. The bottom is of a peaty formation, which ooze is 20 or 30 feet deep, and at some places bottom could not be found.

The soil of the entire swamp is of a peaty character, and, when dry, burns as coal. Before the fall rains, during what is called "Indian summer," the aborigines set fire to the swamp, burning the undergrowth preparatory to the hunting season. The practice is still continued by the pale-face hunters and woodcutters. Huge volumes of smoke, obscuring the skies for miles, are wafted over toward Norfolk, permeating the air with a refreshing balsamic odor. The undergrowth is rich, luxuriant and fragrant, owing to the fertility and peculiar formation of the soil. In the spring this dismal swamp is not so dismal as is generally supposed. It is surprisingly beautiful. When all vegetation is budding, hundreds of varicolored flowers are in bloom, and the soft, still air is drowsy with the perfume of the jasmine, laurel, eglantine and wild Indian rose. Myriads of birds of the brightest plumage add picturesqueness to this garden in a forest and break the solemn stillness with their sweet songs. This is the season for tourists to visit this greatest of all natural wonders.



"HOTEL" DRUMMOND.

At no other time are the swamp and lake seen to such advantage. Vegetation has put forth, and the large mass of green reeds which almost cover the swamp give to it the appearance of a green sea.

During the fall months bear are more numerous, coming out of their jungles for berries. This is the hunter's season also. Hunting is, of course, done in boats. Snakes are not so numerous as they are after the rains. This season is also more pleasant for the hunter, as there is less danger of encountering snakes. In wet weather it is stated they cannot hold on well and have an unpleasant habit of slipping off into the hunter's boat.

There are numerous "logging camps" in the swamp, and the hundreds of men employed in cutting the timber into shingles and stones and loading it onto the boats remain in the swamp during the summer and winter, and the companies employing them report them in excellent health, and that the swamp is free from malaria. Pleasure parties camp in the swamp for weeks and report that they have "enjoyed good health."

All seem to like the water of the lake, and attribute to it health-giving properties. It is called "juniper water," taking its name, also its color, from the juniper tree, which abounds in the swamp and in Lake Drummond, so numerous as to color the water of the lake a reddish, or wine color. The water looks like wine, and does not taste much like ordinary water, being more palatable. The lumbermen like it, almost as much as they do whisky. Sea-going vessels take large quantities, because it will "keep," remaining pure much longer than ordinary water. The water is slightly impregnated with minerals, which form the bottom of the lake. The matter of supplying people of Norfolk with this "juniper water" has been discussed at various times, and the scheme may yet succeed.

It is likely that hotels will be built on the banks of the "Lake of the Dismal Swamp" for the benefit of local visitors and tourists. A few years prior to the late war a log "hotel" was built on the lake, but it closed when hostilities began. The Dismal swamp may again, however, become a fashionable resort.

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1895, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. A FEW WORDS REGARDING THE EYESIGHT.

We all desire to possess as good a vision as possible, and to have it last as far in life as we can; but when such is not the case we lose what is of the utmost value to us and grope along in ignorance of the blessings of normal vision. If your eyes are all right then you have a reason to be thankful, but unless they have been examined, even though the sight may appear correct, there are sometimes latent conditions, which, if corrected at once, would prevent much trouble in later years. Headache, pain over the eyes and watery and inflamed lids are in most every case due to imperfect refraction and the timely use of properly fitted glasses give the only relief and preserve the eyes from further strain. Having studied and practiced the science of optics for years we have good authority for saying that we are fully competent to take care of your case. What is Your Comparison? We are prepared to show you what your vision is FREE OF CHARGE.

That [illegible] enough merely to save money. Slowly and laboriously adding one dollar to another amounts to very little in itself. Your money must grow to count for much. Money grows most when invested in real estate. The fact is as plain as it is that two and two make four. It's just as plain, too, that property in Middletown is a gilt edged investment. This town isn't standing still. Middletown is growing and real estate values are certain to steadily advance on that account. We have some very choice properties on our books and those investing now are sure money makers.

Unjust Suspicions.

Mrs. Shrill—Two or three times family matters referred to on postal cards which I received have become public property, and I'd just like to know how it happened.

Postal Clerk—I guess you must have left the cards laying around the house.

"Oh! Think I did, did you? Are you sure those cards were not read by somebody here?"

"Very sure, ma'am; there isn't a woman in this office."—N. Y. Weekly.

Susannah.

I dreamt a dream the other night,
 When everything was still;
I thought I saw Susannah, dear,
 A-scorching down the hill.
An awful glare was in her eye,
 Her gum was in her mouth;
Says I: "Susannah, don't you cry,
 I'm leaving for the south.
Oh, Susannah!
 Don't you cry for me!
But since I saw dem bloomers, Suse,
 I've got to quit ye. See?"
—Indianapolis Journal.

Dental Note.

Old Mrs. Chaffie is in a toothless condition from age, she being upwards of seventy years old. As she does not believe in commercial teeth, her loss of teeth is very perceptible.

Even Johnny Chaffie, her grandson, has observed the condition of her gums, for he recently said:

"Grandma, ain't it most time for you to get a tooth like the baby?"—Texas Sifter.

Usually the Reason.

"They tell me the De Courcys have a skeleton in their closet."

"Yes."

"And they have been dropped by society."

"Yes."

"Because of the skeleton in the closet, I suppose?"

"Not at all. It was because they didn't keep it there."—Chicago Post.

How He Excused Himself.

May—What excuse did Tom make for jumping to one side when that giddy Van Nelderly creature tried to fall on his neck and pretend to faint away?

Frank—He remarked that all the world agreed it was too much to expect an old head on young shoulders.—Town Topics.

No Place for Him.

Patrick (just recovering from the effects of ether, in the hospital)—Oh, where am I? where am I?

Dr. Sawbones (with a wink)—In Heaven.

Patrick (looking around)—Then, I'd like to know phwat you're doing here!
—Bay City Chat.

'Tis True, and Pity 'Tis, 'Tis True.

She—Why do they call these the melancholy days?

He—Because they are the days when just as you have finished paying up your debts for your summer vacation, you remember that you have got to begin saving up for the holidays.—N. Y. Truth.

Turn About.

Soon will the man who vends the coal
 Vow that revenge is nice:
Since he the purse strings will control
 Of him who sold the ice.
—Washington Star.

MRS. HEN'S LITTLE JOKE.

"Hello," said the rooster to the hen that he had found hiding in a secluded spot, "who are you laying for?"

"Well," said the hen, "until to-day I have been laying for that man over there with the ax, but he is laying for me now."—Up-to-Date.

A Technical Error.

"You are charged with being a pickpocket," said the magistrate to the prisoner.

"Then I can prove I'm not guilty, your honor," replied the latter, "for the officer says he saw me snatch the purse out of the lady's hand!"—Town Topics.

Easily Done.

"Before I can surrender this wig," said the desk sergeant, "it will be necessary to prove ownership."

The applicant removed his hat.

"The wig is yours," said the sergeant promptly.—Chicago Post.

No Assistance Needed.

"Help! Help!" cried the man who was being robbed.

"Calm yourself," said the highwayman. "I don't need any assistance."—Tit-Bits.

Saved the Expense.

"Did you tip the stewards when you were coming back from Europe, Miserly?"

"No. The vessel did enough tipping for all of us."—Detroit Free Press.

Seemed That Way.

Mrs. Philanthro—Tell me, my poor man, is you blindness permanent?

Mendicant (despairingly)—It looks like it, lady. Times is that bad, I don't see no chance of retiring.—Tit-Bits.

ECHOES OF THE PARADE.

Pittston Firemen More Than Delighted With Their Visit to Middletown—One of Beacons' Trophies.

The Pittson Gazette says:

Never in the whole history of their organization have the Niagaras been able to record such a brilliant event as their recent pilgrimage to the Firemen's Mecca of the past few days. The reception accorded to them on their arrival was of the most inspiring character. Rousing an ovation as it was, it gave merely a foretaste of what the city fathers, the citizens and their kindred organizations had in store for them.

They were at once freely and unreservedly admitted to the full freedom of the city by the mayor, and while they literally almost owned the town during their stay, they well remembered that the generous "liberty" granted them did not mean "license," and they bore themselves throughout in a manner that gained golden opinions from all sorts and conditions of people, proving in a w rd that they each and everyone thoroughly deserved "the grand old name of gentleman."

Since their return, language fails Niagaras when they try to express their appreciation of the large and liberal hospitality which was ceaselessly lavished upon them by the Mayor, the Council, the McQuoids and the residents in general. Such an endless feast of reason and flow of soul, surpassing all expectations in their bounteousness and geniality, will long keep this year's convention fresh and green in the souls of our firemen. Age cannot wither nor custom stale the memory of such an event completed and rounded out as this was by the combined efforts of fair women and brave men.

The Fishkill Standard says that Beacons, although they did not reach home until a late hour, were given a hearty welcome with fireworks and bonfires. The members of the company speak in warmest terms of their entertainment while here. The Standard says:

The Beacons brought home a number of trophies, including a stuffed eagle in a case that has a history. In 1889 Eagle Hose Company was at Matteawan. The eagle mentioned above then belonged to the Beacons and adorned their hose carriage. When the Middletowners went home they took the eagle. It has been in Middletown ever since. The Beacons had a nice case made in which to put the bird and presented it to the Eagles. On Thursday the eagle and case came back. The Beacons took it without asking permission. They thought it hardly necessary.

COACHING ACROSS ORANGE COUNTY

"The Lightning's" Trips Between Goshen and Newburgh—Fast Time Made With Farm Horses.

The coach run between Goshen and Newburgh, last week, by T. Suffern Tailer, as an adjunct to the Orange County Horse Show, is believed to have solved a problem in coaching and demonstrated that where it is possible to hire horses from farmers coaching trips can be made without going to the expense of sending ahead relays of specially trained horses.

The horses used on Mr. Tailer's coach, "The Lightning," were hired from farmers and had never been driven in four-in-hands until last week, yet of the twenty-six horses used only one became so restive as to make trouble. This horse, one of the leaders, was made so nervous by the rattling of the chains and lead bars that he started to kick, and did so with such hearty good will that he broke the steel "D" cap of the lead bar, a solid steel forging over two inches thick.

The time made by the coach, considering the green horses and the bad condition of the roads for part of the distance, is remarkably good. The distance from Newburgh to Goshen is twenty-two miles, and the trip each way was made in two hours and twenty minutes, which comes to a little less than ten miles an hour.

Horses were changed at Hamptonburgh, Washingtonville and Vail's Gate. The time from Goshen to Hamptonburgh was twenty-eight minutes, from Hamptonburgh to Washingtonville thirty-seven minutes; from Washingtonville to Vail's Gate thirty-three minutes, leaving twenty-two minutes in which to reach Newburgh.

Mr. Tailer's coach was well patronized on every trip, a number of Tuxedo people having availed themselves of this opportunity to enjoy a trip through one of the most charming sections of Orange county. On several occasions Mrs. Tailer took her turn as whip and handled the reins almost as well as her husband.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at McMonagle & Rogers Drug Store.

THE LATE MRS. MELINDA LUDLUM

A Feeling Tribute Paid Her Memory by Rector Evans of Grace Church.

In the morning sermon at Grace Church, yesterday, the rector alluded to the late Mrs. Melinda Ludlum as follows:

"Wherever she came, this simple and modest little woman, whose death brings sorrow to so many hearts, she brought the summer and the sun. Her ingenuous and cheerful personality diffused happiness all around her. She walked the earth an incarnate benediction, and no one ever came within the gracious radius of her smiling countenance and twinkling eye without being warmed and cheered.

"A fountain of perennial youth seemed ever bubbling up within her, and while in all her three score and sixteen years the frosts of so many winters had not chilled her bright vitality, the blessed warmth of every single summer and the balmy air of every fresh and stimulating spring in all that long procession of seasons had surely passed into the genial current of her happy soul, and made her, what indeed she was, a reservoir of buoyant life and blithe infectious gaiety.

"When such bright souls as these are taken from our midst they are missed indeed. The world seems bare and cold without them, for they were like some smiling oasis in a dry and arid desert, and now the eye sees nothing but a desert bleak and bare.

"It is indeed like the contrast that such a sunless day as this affords to the radiant beauty of Friday last, when, under unclouded skies and through a golden light that kissed, as with a wizard wand, into kaleidescopic splendor all the bright hues and flaming glories of the autumnal foliage, all that could die of this dear Christian woman was carried to the grave.

"Happy indeed was she in her life, thrice happy in her death, for without any slow decay or gradual deterioration, she just fell on sleep, and in a moment was translated from these earthly scenes to those eternal bowers which God's own presence irradiates with a richer glory and a fairer light than ever shown on land or sea."

TO TAKE A LONG NAP.

Leeds, the Hypnotist, to Put His Young Man to Sleep for Twenty-four Hours.

Leeds, the hypnotist, who begins a week's engagement at the Casino, to-night, has with him a young man named Frank Deems, whom he will put to sleep at 9 o'clock, to-morrow night. The sleeper will be placed on a cot, carried to the window of Shannon's art store and left there for twenty-four hours. During all that time he will be in a deep hypnotic sleep and will be watched by a committee appointed for the purpose. He will be taken back to the Casino, Wednesday evening, and awakened on the stage.

Mr. Deems has been with Mr. Leeds for some time. In St. Louis he was put to sleep and buried for four days. This is the longest nap he has ever taken.

He says that after awaking from one of these hypnotic sleeps he is a trifle weak and his legs tremble somewhat, but that he recovers in five minutes.

That Joyful Feeling

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well-informed.

MARRIED FOR SIXTY YEARS.

Husband Eighty-Two, Wife Eighty-One and They Have Been Married Sixty Years.

From the Port Jervis Gazette.

Sunday was the sixtieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. William Cole, of Tri-States, and six of their daughters dined with them on the occasion, the seventh daughter, Mrs. Susan Ezekial, of Colorado, not being present. The six at the reunion Sunday were: Mrs. T. A. Perry, Mrs. Catherine Carmer, of Port Jervis; Mrs. Levi Ferguson, of Greenville; Mrs. E. M. Kimball, of Sussex county; Mrs. Smith, of Collinsville, Conn.; Mrs. John Retalic, of Dingman's Ferry.

Mr. Cole is eighty-two years of age and his wife is eighty-one and they are keeping house alone on Bennet street, and are just as happy and contented with one another and the world generally as they were when they commenced housekeeping sixty years ago.

AN INVITATION.

It Gives Us Pleasure to Publish the following Announcement.

All women suffering from any form of illness peculiar to their sex are requested to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America. This confidence has induced more than 100,000 women to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice during the last few months.

Think what a volume of experience she has to draw from! No physician living ever treated so many cases of female ills, and from this vast experience surely it is more than possible she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case.

She is glad to have you write or call upon her. You will find her a woman full of sympathy, with a great desire to assist those who are sick. If her medicine is not what you need, she will frankly tell you so, and there are nine chances out of ten that she will tell you exactly what to do for relief. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has relieved thousands.

Surely, any ailing woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in the history of Mrs. Pinkham's wonderful Compound has the demand for it been so great as it is to-day.
